

The Future Futures

The Future Futures

Future studies or futurology is the science, art, and practice of postulating possible, probable, and preferable futures and the worldviews and myths that underlie them. Futures studies seek to understand what is likely to continue, what is likely to change, and what is novel. Part of the discipline thus seeks a systematic and pattern-based understanding of past and present, and to determine ...

Applications. Futures and promises originated in functional programming and related paradigms (such as logic programming) to decouple a value (a future) from how it was computed (a promise), allowing the computation to be done more flexibly, notably by parallelizing it. Later, it found use in distributed computing, in reducing the latency from communication round trips.

A future is an object that can retrieve a value from some provider object or function, properly synchronizing this access if in different threads. "Valid" futures are future objects associated to a shared state, and are constructed by calling one of the following functions: `async`; `promise::get_future`; `packaged_task::get_future`; future objects are only useful when they are valid.
